1 General Statement

St Philip's Christian College Cessnock (the College) is committed to providing a safe, respectful learning environment that is inclusive and supportive for all students. All members of our College community have the right to be in an environment free from fear, intimidation, humiliation and harassment.

Bullying, in any of its forms, will not be tolerated at the College and will be treated seriously. Our approach is underpinned by Biblical truth and motivated by Christian love. In this context, 1 Corinthians 13 provides a solid basis for all relationships at St Philip's Christian College Cessnock. Jesus Christ is our definitive behavioural model.

Bullying is complex. Knowing exactly what bullying is and understanding why it happens are critical to finding positive and lasting solutions for everyone involved. Students can play various roles within the bullying dynamic. Understanding the peer group is central to understanding bullying.

Bullying of any form or for any reason can have long-term negative impacts. Intervening appropriately to respond to or prevent bullying is essential. Dealing with bullying involves tapping into their motivations and understandings of the social situation. The reasons for bullying will be found below the surface by investigating issues of power, norms and social status, tolerance and diversity. Exploring these areas and how they influence students' interactions and behaviour can provide essential insights into the most appropriate responses.

2 Scope

This policy applies to students enrolled at the College. A Year 12 student is considered to be enrolled until the business day after the completion of their final exam.

The application of this policy is not limited to the College's site and operating hours. It extends to all activities and events that are school-related, including when students are:

- On school grounds.
- At any in College related activities or representing the College (including for example camps, events, excursions, incursions, retreats, sport, awards nights).
- Representing the College, including when off campus, or in a digital environment.
- Travelling to and from school, as well as to and from off-site activities.
- Wearing the school uniform.
- Under the College's legal duty of care.
- Otherwise engaging in behaviour which in the reasonable opinion of the College may affect student health and safety, student relationships, staff health and safety, staff-student relationships, or the reputation of the College.

This policy is to be read on conjunction with the Student Code of Conduct.

3 Definition

Bullying is an ongoing and deliberate misuse of power in relationships through repeated verbal, physical and/or social behaviour that intends to cause physical, social and/or psychological harm. It can involve an individual or a group misusing their power, or perceived power, over one or more persons who feel unable to stop it from happening.

Bullying can happen in person or online, via various digital platforms and devices and it can be obvious (overt) or hidden (covert). Bullying behaviour is repeated, or has the potential to be repeated, over time (for example, through sharing of digital records).

Bullying of any form or for any reason can have immediate, medium and long-term effects on those involved, including bystanders. Single incidents and conflict or fights between equals, whether in person or online, are not defined as bullying.

4 Examples of Bullying

Bullying can happen in different ways. Examples of bullying include:

- Verbal – name calling, teasing, abuse, putdowns (particularly those which refer to personal characteristics and impact on self-esteem), sarcasm, insults, threats of unfair criticism, suggestive comments, rumour spreading.
- Non-verbal – writing offensive notes, graffiti about others, rude gestures, damaging other people’s possessions.
- Physical - hitting, rubbing, grabbing, punching, kicking, scratching, tripping, spitting, taking/damaging property, using a weapon and any other unwelcome physical contact used to intimidate or hurt someone.
- Social - ignoring, excluding, ostracising, alienating including forming groups to leave out, ignoring and disrespect, making inappropriate gestures, looks, stares, facial expressions
- Sexual - any unwelcome written, verbal or physical contact of a sexual nature (including those actions which are perceived to be sexual in nature), sexually orientated jokes, drawings of or writing about another person’s body, unwanted invitations of a sexual nature, showing explicit images without permission and asking questions about another person’s sexual activity or orientation.
- Psychological- spreading rumours, dirty looks, hiding or damaging possessions, malicious SMS and email messages, voice and text messages, inappropriate use of camera phones, photographic and video images, inappropriate use of social media.
- Indirect- influencing or organising someone else to bully or harass another person.
- Cyberbullying – using email, text messaging, social media, the internet or other online forums to cause hurt or upset to another person. Further details are provided below.
- Exclusion– deliberately excluding others, refusing to set next to someone.

5 Cyberbullying

Cyber-bullying is direct verbal or indirect bullying behaviours using digital technologies. This includes harassment via a mobile phone, setting up a defamatory personal website or deliberately excluding someone from social networking. Cyber bullying can be particularly damaging because of the capacity to humiliate, hurt and harm a person in front of a huge ‘audience’.

A dangerous feature of cyber bullying is that it can be done quickly and easily. On an impulse, a person can create emotional havoc for another and do so before the voice of reason hints at the inappropriateness of the action. A further problem with cyber bullying is that the person bullying is often unaware of the extent of the harm they are causing because cyber bullying seldom occurs face-to-face. The feedback is muted by distance so that they are protected from an understanding of the awfulness of their behaviour.

Cyber bullying represents unlawful activity that may result in police laying charges. Cyber bullying has been linked to depression, self-harm and even suicide.

Further examples of cyberbullying include:

- Sending hateful or threatening comments or pictures via an instant messaging service, mobile phone or the internet and by social networking sites such as Twitter, Tumblr, Be Real, Instagram, TikTok and Facebook.
- Using modern technologies to engage in the social exclusion of someone and in hate group recruitment.
- Posting rude, explicit or embarrassing messages or pictures about someone online.
- Stealing someone's identity to harm them in some way.
- Putting pressure on a person to send revealing or compromising pictures of themselves.
- Covertly filming, recording or taking a picture of someone and posting the images on the Internet to cause hurt.
- 'Outing' and disseminating confidential information about someone.
- 'Flaming' and multi-messaging to clog up a person's electronic system and to cause them distress.
- Using aliases and pseudonyms in chat rooms and on social networking sites to harass and upset.
- Engaging in cyber-stalking and the invading of privacy.
- Referring to your school in a negative or disparaging.

6 What is Not Bullying?

Many distressing behaviours are not examples of bullying, even though they are unpleasant and often require staff intervention and management.

Behaviours that do not constitute bullying include:

- Single incidents - Single episodes of nastiness, intimidation, violence or acts of physical aggression are not the same as bullying. If a student is verbally abused or pushed on one occasion they are not being bullied. Nastiness or physical aggression that is directed towards many different students is not the same as bullying.

- Mutual conflict - Bullying behaviour is not disagreements between equals, situations of mutual conflict or children not getting along well. In mutual conflict situations, there is an argument or disagreement between students but not an imbalance of power. Both parties are upset and usually both want a resolution to the problem. However, unresolved mutual conflict sometimes develops into a bullying situation with one person becoming targeted repeatedly for 'retaliation' in a one-sided way.
- Social rejection or dislike - Not liking a person or a one off act of social rejection, meanness or spite is not bullying. Unless the social rejection is directed towards someone specific and involves deliberate and repeated attempts to cause distress, exclude or create dislike by others, it is not bullying.
- Signs of Bullying

Signs that a student may be the subject of bullying include:

- becoming aggressive and unreasonable;
- startling physical or verbal altercations;
- refusing to talk about what is wrong; or
- a drop in academic performance.

Less obvious signs could include a student that:

- is often alone or excluded from friendship groups at school;
- is a frequent target for teasing, mimicking or ridicule at school;
- changes their willingness to speak up in class;
- withdraws from friends and activities they previously enjoyed; or
- appears insecure or frightened in the classroom.

7 The College's Response to Reports of Bullying

Staff, students and parents are encouraged to report bullying so that it can be dealt with appropriately. Most often, it can be dealt with at the school level, however, in some instances, it may be appropriate to report bullying to other authorities, in the case of behaviours which may constitute a crime, or serious online bullying.

If suspected bullying is reported to the College, students and parents can expect that a member of staff will:

- Reassure the student that they will be supported and assisted by the College.

- Avoid minimising the issue, or saying dismissive things that imply the issue is not important.
- Find a suitable place to talk, or make a time to discuss the problem privately.
- Ensure that their voice is calm and body language is open as they listen to the concerns being raised.
- Listen without interrupting, using only encouraging questions or sounds to show they are listening.
- Only after the student has shared their version of events, staff may ask specific questions to clarify or seek more details.
- If the student has not already advised, ask the student: “who, what, when, why, how and where” questions, including:
  - What words have been said or written?
  - Has anyone been physically hurt and how?
  - Who is usually around?
  - Who else has the student told about this?
  - Is any evidence of what has happened? This typically relates to screenshots etc. in instances of cyberbullying.
- Ask the student questions to help distinguish between single incidents of conflict and an ongoing pattern of bullying.
- Ask the student to write down any information they have about their concerns.
- Reassure the student it is never okay to be bullied.
- Reassure the student it is not their fault that the other person is behaving in such a way that makes the student feel the way they are feeling.
- Praise the student for speaking out, and acknowledge that talking about it takes lots of courage.
- Ask the student what they want the College to do in response (for example, a stop bullying conversation or a formal investigation).
- Reassure the student that the College takes their concerns seriously and that the College will follow up as quickly as possible.
- Ask the student if they feel safe in the short term, and consider whether interim preventative safety measures may need to be implemented.

8 The College's Anti-Bullying Plan

The Anti-Bullying Plan at St Philip's Christian College Cessnock recognises that there are consequences for bullying or harassment. This plan is based upon the College Core Values and includes specific strategies that involve:

- reporting (by students, parents and staff);
- responding by intervening (by students, parents and staff);
- accessing help and support (by students, parents and staff);
- professional learning (for staff); and
- awareness raising for students through educational programs (by students, parents and staff).
